“The industry we serve is a challenging one. As a member of NCPCM, we more easily face the challenges by having networking opportunities with other members and benefit greatly from legislative representation.”

-Kaye Thompson, E.J. Pope & Son

“The value our company has derived from membership is immeasurable. The governmental lobbying, engineering support, environmental advice, industry education, group insurance rates, legal advise and marketing assistance from the professional NCPCM staff are benefits our, and most, companies would not have access to or be able to afford working independently. The interaction through the sharing of ideas with colleagues facing the same daily challenges has been extremely beneficial to our company.

Each time I’m involved in any group discussion with NCPCM members, I leave a better person due to the association with such quality people. I’ve also had a darn good time along the way!”

“The information that we receive from NCPCM helps us to manage the petroleum and retail regulations in our business. The seminars have been useful to our managers, and the legal team is helpful with employee issues.”

- Hannah Holt, Holt Oil Co.

“Our company finds the access to the staff and the technical support and legal support to be crucial in the present marketplace. Without our membership in NCPCM, we would have a very difficult time keeping up with the many changing laws and regulations in our industry.”

- Davis Clark, Southern Sales of Aberdeen
